WAINWRIGHT TEACHERS HOLD CONVENTION

On October 26th and 27th, the teachers of the Wainwright Local of the Alberta Teachers' Association held a very well attended and very successful convention in Wainwright.

The convention opened Thursday morning with the singing of O Canada, and the invocation given by Rev. L. A. Bralant, of Wainwright. Mr. H. T. Coult, supervisor of the Wainwright Division, gave a very interesting talk. Mr. Coult's address was followed by that of Hon. R. E. Ansley, Minister of Education, who outlined his views on education, and warned the teachers against the influence of propaganda, particularly that intended to promote centralization of power in any field larger than the provincial field.

In the afternoon the convention was divided into Elementary, Intermediate and High School Sections, to discuss problems peculiar to each group. These discussions were very helpful to all those attending.

The morning of the 27th featured an hour's talk by Mr. Leonard Bercuson, of the Correspondence School Branch, who is Director of Adult Education for Alberta. Mr. Bercuson, who is one of the most fluent speakers in the province, dealt with "Education for the Post-War World," stressing the need for adult education and for a more alert attitude toward the educational problems of the day. He outlined what has already been done in parts of this province to meet the need.

At noon, a luncheon, attended by sixty persons, was served in the cafeteria of the Wainwright hotel.

At the business meeting, the following officers were re-elected to positions in the Wainwright Local: President, Mr. G. C. Welsh, Edmonton; Vice-president, Mr. D. H. Gunn, Irma, Secretary-treasurer, On Friday evening, Mr. Bercuson

On spoke to a large crowd which gathered in the Wainwright high school. He advocated the formation of an adult education group in Wainwright. At the conclusion of his address, a committee was elected to explore the possibility. Everyone who heard Mr. Bercuson will watch with great interest this first attempt to introduce adult education to this section of the province.

LET'S be quite frank.
When you read—as you probably did during the past few months—that more than 300,000 people in Canada have syphilis, what was your reaction? Did you say, "That's too bad; something should be done about it," and then turn to the comic page? Chances are you did.

But if that article had told you that Tommy Jones, the lad who used to mow your lawn after school, had syphilis—how would you have felt about it? Or that the young couple who built that cute house in the next block, had just lost a baby through syphilis... would that have made you stop and think?

Or, if you suddenly discovered that your Max... No? That couldn't happen? But it can. And it does... to hundreds of Tommies and Marys every year, right here in Canada. Right in your community. You'll never read articles like that, of course, for these are the personal tragedies that people bear in silence.

So, when you pick up the paper sometimes and read, "... there were 5,000 new VENEREAL DISEASE cases reported in this province last year..." remember! These are not cold figures. They represent 5,000 heart-breaking... heart-aching situations.

Yes, VENEREAL DISEASE is a serious problem. It's a problem for parents; for taxpayers; for young people on the threshold of life; for everyone.

VENEREAL DISEASE need never strike if we all do our part. If we know the facts. If we use these facts to advantage. If we don't shrug our shoulders and say, "This couldn't happen to anyone in my family."

You have a duty to your family and the community.

Agriculture And The War

AGRICULTURE IS ONE OF CANADA'S largest industries and it has always played a vital part in the national economy. Wheat is the most abundant grain crop produced here, and the importance is illustrated in figures printed in the Statistical Year Book of the League of Nations, where the wheat crop in Canada in 1941-42 was given as 28 bushels per capita. In Australia the yield was 24 bushels per capita, in Argentina 17 bushels and in the United States seven bushels. The value of a great agricultural industry as we have here, has been emphasized during the war, when the increased demand for food for the armed forces and for those nations whose normal food supply has been disorganized, has made it a war industry of primary importance. Much tribute has been paid to the splendid contribution made by Canadian farmers to the United Nations war effort, in spite of the many difficulties created by wartime conditions.

British Show Fine Results

The farmers of Britain have likewise put forth a maximum effort to produce much-needed food crops during the war, and their work has resulted in outstanding success. Prior to 1939, only forty per cent of Britain's total food supply was produced at home. Today that figure stands at seventy per cent. This is in spite of the fact that although farm labour was "frozen" in September 1940, more than 40,000 skilled agricultural workers went into the armed forces. The problem of labour shortage was met in part by an increase in the use of farm machinery. In addition, a Women's Land Army, numbering 83,000 was organized, and Land Clubs and holiday camps also provided extra help during busy seasons. Prisoners of war, conscientious objectors, and on some occasions, members of the armed forces, have also assisted in relieving the labour shortage, which has been considered the biggest problem facing British farmers at this time.

Much Credit Is Due To Farmers

An intense program of education in the most modern methods of scientific farming has added to Britain's greatly increased agricultural output. Through the use of fertilizers much worn-out land has been again made productive, and there has also been a vast reclamation project involving more than 4,000,000 acres. In carrying out this undertaking 30,000 acres of swamp land were drained, and large tracts of land, formerly used for grazing, were converted to producing crops. It has been pointed out, however, that in spite of the fact that arable acreage has been increased by forty-two per cent, the actual amount of land cultivated is now two per cent below the pre-war level, due to the fact that a great deal of space is required for war factories and military purposes. There are only a few of the ways in which British agriculture has endeavored to meet the demands of war. To them, and to the many other ways, due a large measure of credit for the present hopeful position of the Allied Nations.

An Increase In Seen In European Wartime Agriculture

The most startling change in European wartime agriculture has been a very material increase in oil plant cultivation, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. In France alone, oilseed acreage jumped from 87,000 acres in 1942 to 527,000 in 1943. In Germany, the increase was from 114,000 acres in 1939 to 798,000 acres in 1943. Production increased from 88,000 to 634,000 tons. Roumania advanced from 740,000 acres in 1940 to 1,236,000 acres in 1943. Similar results were obtained in some other countries.

The significance of this change-over has many phases. An acre of land will yield several times as much edible oil as it would after conversion of the crop to butter. In view of the fact that both butter and edible oil production was down in 1943, this was a good way of securing adequate fat supplies. In addition, valuable protein feeds for live stock—the worst bottleneck in European animal production—are found in the oilcakes increased output of vegetable oils, remarks the Review, may unfavorably affect butter and lard imports after the war.

Q.—I need a new tire for my bicycle but I understand that bicycle tires are rationed and that I can get one only with a permit. Is this true?

A.—No, bicycle tires are not rationed. You may purchase a new one if you turn over a used bicycle tire to your dealer.

Q.—Must landlords use a Wartime Prices and Trade Board form when notice is being given to the tenants to vacate?

A.—In presenting notice to vacate, landlords must use a form provided by the Prices Board. Made out in triplicate, one form must be filed with the Prices Board, one given to the tenant and one kept by the landlord, himself.

All-Plastic Tire

Development Of Heat Resisting Tire Is Of Major Importance

Development of the first "heat-tempered" all-plastic tire—a step that eventually may greatly increase tire life—was announced by W. H. Funston, President of The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Limited. The development is considered of major importance because the tire is designed to whip the number one enemy of long wear—heat.

This new tire has been developed and now is being laboratory tested at the Akron, Ohio, plant. Whether the all-plastic tire ultimately will compete with its rubber colleague will not be known until the company completes the current laboratory examination and the grueling road tests to which the new tire will be subjected. Experts agree that heat causes most tire failures and that great mileage could be rolled up if the problem were licked. Taking a long step toward achieving this goal, Firestone engineers built the all-plastic tire to stand twice the heat a natural rubber tire develops at high speeds.

This was done by thermosetting, or "heat-tempering", the plastics which went into the 6.00-16 passenger car tire. The "tempering" was achieved by adding certain materials to the plastic and applying heat. The Firestone all-plastic tire, which looks so much like a rubber tire that only an expert could tell the difference, does not crack or check in the sunlight and, unlike rubber tires, it is not soluble in gasoline or oil.

How soon all-plastic tires, which live up to expectations, will be available for civilian use is uncertain because all tire manufacturing facilities now are devoted to building military and essential civilian tires.

Underground Factory

Discovered By American Infantry Unit Inside Siegfried Line

American infantrymen captured the first underground factory thus far found inside Germany—an airplane parts plant located in a 1,000-foot railroad tunnel.

An infantry unit patrolling no-man's land a mile west of the Siegfried line stumbled on the factory. It was not in operation, but was crammed with valuable machinery.

The discovery aroused speculation over how much of Hitler's war industry is operating underground in view of the terrific air assaults on all German industrial centres.

Canadian Hebrews

Have Made Admirable Contribution To Canada's War Effort

In connection with the celebrations of the Jewish New Year, members of the Canadian government have been issuing statements praising the contribution made by Canadian Hebrews to the democratic cause. These tributes are well deserved.

Col. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, gave a clear statement of the significance for the Jewish people of what has happened, and is about to happen, in Nazi-controlled Germany. In his message to the Jewish men and women in the armed forces he said:

The Jewish race has had good reason to battle the Nazi beast with all its energy. In Hitler's Germany the Jews have been chosen as the prime target for barbarous cruelties that seldom have been equalled in the history of mankind. The New Year ahead may well be the final chapter of a dark, bloody story of the Jewish people. Canada has reason to be proud and grateful for the magnificent response of its sons and daughters in the defence of liberty and freedom. Jew or Christian, they fight shoulder to shoulder that they may live side by side in peace and harmony. It is an inspiring ideal, the true mark of a great nation.

The Canadian Jewish Congress has kept a careful record of the war services of the Jewish people in Canada. This shows that over 15,000 men and women of the Hebrew community are in the forces; 9,300 in the Army, 5,300 in the Air Force and 500 in the Navy. More than 300 have made the supreme sacrifice, and 41 have been awarded decorations. When it is recalled that the total Jewish population in Canada is only 170,000, the significance of these figures becomes even more apparent. It is an admirable record, and one that will compare well with that of any other section of the community. These figures do not, of course, measure the full extent of the Jewish contribution to the Canadian war effort. In other fields the Jewish community has made an equally distinguished contribution.

All men and women of goodwill, all true Canadians, will join in hoping that the New Year, now dawning for the Jewish people will bring to an end the hideous tragedy that has marked the history of the Hebrew people since the triumph of Nazi ideas in Germany and elsewhere in Europe. Let us hope also that there will be no more of the anti-Semitic hoodlums activities which, in a few isolated cases, have besmirched the fair name of Canada. For as Jews, we are all country we all love, for our own self respect, this foul business must not be allowed to develop in the Dominion, Ottawa Citizen.

Aircraft Workers

Make Many Valuable Suggestions That Save Time And Money

Canadian aircraft workers are contributing brains as well as brawn to speeding final victory over the Axis. Their ideas for doing jobs more quickly and cheaply have saved Canada countless man-hours and at least $567,529 in cash, according to an announcement by the Aircraft Industry Relations Committee recently.

A western woman aircraft worker who has come up with first-rate production suggestions is Miss F. H. Edmond, Alberta. She cut a 24-hour process four days by devising a new way to grind and blunt metal propeller blades. In the same plant, Harry Klepacchuk, journeyman welder, won a $50 award in Victory Bonds by developing a grinder which reduces the time required on a motor to operation from 16 hours to exactly 30 minutes.

More Than Mere Form

People Becoming Naturalized Should Be Assured Of Cordial Welcome

In an Ontario court recently two young men, one of them in uniform, appeared for naturalization. The oath was administered. No interest was taken otherwise. No welcome to Canadian citizenship was extended. Nothing was said to them at all.

No doubt that is the usual custom, varied in some cases by questioning, but lack what ought to be a regular feature—congratulation upon the step being taken, and a word or two of welcome, not delivered with a superior air, but on a plane of equality. "You and I are 'salt' Canadian citizens. You have all the privileges and duties of citizenship just as I have."

People who become naturalized should be made to feel that there is something more in this ceremony than signing papers or taking an oath as a matter of form.—Toronto Star.

One Of Canada's Cruisers Will Be Called The Uganda

An Empire link, forged by naval tradition, will be formed shortly between Canada and the British Protectorate of Uganda when the cruiser Uganda is commissioned as a ship of the Royal Navy.

Specifications of the cruiser are cloaked under security regulations. But by description of Navy Minister Macdonald, in press conferences, the Uganda, first of two cruisers to be added to the Canadian naval strength, is a medium cruiser.

She will bear, it is stated, gifts from the people of the African protectorate, and for these and traditional reasons shall keep her name, although it is marked down in Canadian Navy plans to designate the second or any other succeeding cruiser by the name of a province.

To Press On

The Ordinary Man Only On The Threshold Of His Inheritance

Political democracy in Britain is not the ancient and hoary institution that romantic historians seem to imagine. It is a new responsibility for most of us. My grandfather was the first in our family who had the right to vote. He had to fight for that right. . . . We in our generation know that a static democracy is not live. We have no intention of remaining static. We mean to press on. For this 20th century is the century of the emergence of the ordinary man and he is as yet barely on the threshold of his inheritance.—Jennie Lee: This Great Journey.

Post-War Army

Will Have Plenty Of The Best Equipment To Draw From

The Reserve Army is expected to get encouragement after this war in place of the seemingly grudging support it got after the First Great War.

One thing is sure: The Army will have plenty of the best equipment to draw from and there is every likelihood that the wide range of weapons from tanks and landing barges to Commando daggers and Sten guns will be used in peacetime training camps after the war.

The question as to whether the Veterans will join the Reserve has already been answered in many cities where discharged men have found themselves irresistibly drawn back to the parade ground and the comradeship of arms.

One officer said recently: "When they quit the Army they all say it's the last time they want to see a uniform."

"I know, because I said the same thing after the last war. But in about six months' time they start coming around the armories, and the first thing you know they've got on sergeant stripes and are bawling out commands."—Toronto Globe and Mail.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

The Maharaja

—By—
MORT MADOFF

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Louise, scanning the society page of the morning paper, gasped audibly. Her voice became tense with excitement. "It's true! The Van Worthingtons have that handsome maharaja as their guest. Oh, Herbert, I'd give my right arm to be introduced to him!"

Herbert reluctantly withdrew his eyes from the sports page. "Aw, Louise, an Indian prince is human like the rest of us common folks."

His wife glared. "Common folks! That describes us perfectly, Herbert Bummel. We'll never... we'll never be anything else."

Herbert swallowed his coffee in one gulp. "And what have you to complain about, Mrs. Louise Clinker Bummel?"

Louise stared critically at her husband. There really wasn't much to censure. Herbert was a good husband, a dependable plumber who always made a decent living and never caused any trouble. But he was as romantic as Mulligan's stew.

Herbert set down his coffee cup, snatched his lips, picked up his cap, planted a methodical kiss upon Louise's brow, and bounded off to do his daily tinkering.

Louise sighed as she began to wash the breakfast dishes. The patter of the faucet became a majestic waterfall. India. Rubies and diamonds. Harems. Curious mystics who stare at the sun and scamper over hot coals. Voluptuous dancing girls. Handsome princes on white elephants. Turbans and the river Ganges. India—romance.

Even while preparing supper Louise couldn't forget the maharaja. If only Herbert would mix with the more socially prominent businessmen. But Herbert was Herbert, and there was no changing him.

At supper Herbert grinned broadly. "Joe Peters sure messed up that Van Worthington job."

Louise felt prickly. "Van Worthington?"

Herbert paused a moment as he swallowed a mouthful of mashed potatoes. "Yeah. They needed some special plumbing in that fifty-foot mausoleum they call a bathroom. Insisted on a hurry-up job as they wanted it for this Indian individual. I couldn't guarantee to do it fast enough for them, so they gave it to Joe."

Louise blanched. "Herbert! If you had taken that job maybe we'd have been invited to that costume party. And I want so much to go." Here eyes moistened and her heart ached.

Herbert patted her hand. "I'm sorry, Louise, but even a plumber has ethics."

Louise sniffed. "The party is Thursday afternoon. All I'd want would be one look at that charming maharaja."

Herbert wrinkled up his nose. "It's beyond me what you women see in that Indian. Anyway, pass the meat balls, eh, Louise?"

Thursday dawned bright and cheerful. But there was no sunshine for Louise. Beside her, Herbert was whistling away for all he was worth. He was dead to the world, dreaming about monkey wrenches and lead castings.

At breakfast Herbert had a disgustingly good appetite. It meant nothing to him that he wasn't invited to the Van Worthington costume party. He hummed happily as he buttered his toast. Louise looked imploringly at him. "Please, Herbert, you don't have to put on an act for me."

Herbert stared wide-eyed. "This is no act. I'm expecting one of my biggest and most important jobs today."

Louise sighed heavily. "Is that all you ever think of—jobs and more jobs?"

Herbert munched contentedly. "It's our bread and butter, Louise. Our bread and butter."

At ten o'clock Louise met the mailman at the door. The Van Worthingtons would send her an invitation. She just knew it. But the lone envelope contained an announcement heralding the opening of Gittelman's Haberdashery.

Twelve o'clock came and went. At three, Louise was frantically waiting for a liveried messenger to come dashing up on the porch. Thirty-three party would begin. Louise could almost hear the gay stringed music, the murmur of the guests as they awaited the maharaja, and then the hush as he made his regal entrance.

The jingling of the phone brought her back to reality. She blinked twice as she heard the briskness of Herbert's voice. "How'd you like to see the Indian fellow, Louise?"

Louise trembled all over. "Oh, Herbert, how did you manage it? But hurry, darling, the party has started."

Herbert was provokingly calm. "Don't worry, the shindig won't begin until we get there."

As she imagined the glittering dress of the other guests, Louise wailed. "But what shall I wear?"

"Better put on a pair of my overalls. And boots. But hurry!"

Louise flew upstairs and encased herself in Herbert's work clothes. Herbert was clever sometimes. Who would ever think of going to a society costume party in a plumber's outfit? They sped up the hill in the business truck. Louise wouldn't have cared if it had been a junk wagon. She, Louise Bummel, was going to the exclusive Van Worthington costume party. And she happily squeezed Herbert's arm.

An obsequious doorman hurried them inside. The guests stood aside respectfully as the Bummels made their way up the marble stairway. Louise tugged at Herbert's elbow. "Isn't the party being held downstairs?"

Herbert chuckled. "Party? Your maharaja is marooned in that fancy bathroom, and I'm the fellow who's going to rescue him and fix the busted pipes."

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA + TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

NUTRITION IMPORTANT SCIENCE

If all persons were rational nutritional education would be very simple. They would learn promptly and would act wisely after observing the ill effects of deficient diet and the benefits to health and development brought about by the eating of the right kinds of foods.

But in this respect people have not always behaved as rational beings. Many have read and are reading about deficiency diseases and the rewards in health and welfare that fall to those who eat balanced meals. But they cannot be bothered to make the effort to break away from their old habits.

Some know the kinds of foods that the diet should contain and yet they deliberately persist for years in eating what they prefer rather than selecting the nutritious foods they need and finally end up with undermined health.

However, the entire human race is not irrational and stubborn in its food habits and many have learned and are learning by experience and education to change their food habits. Even though most persons show strong resistance to new ideas, many have learned much about nutrition—proper eating habits—in recent years.

For instance, numerous housewives now know the meaning of food groups. They have learned that starches, fats and proteins are important constituents of daily diets and know how to use them in cooking. They are well-informed about vitamins, what foods contain certain vitamins and other substances essential to the health of their children.

Also, they know there has been a revolution in kitchen practices. They have learned that fruits and vegetables should not be treated as relishes but as important components of the daily diet. They are conscious of the fact that milk is not merely baby food but should be included in everyone's diet.

It took scientists many years to discover and verify these simple facts and gradually the world at large is absorbing this New Science which, if allowed full sway by all humans and their economies, would revolutionize a very big part of the art of living.

Finland's Indemnity

Russia is Likely To Accept Wood
And Wood Products

Finland, fighting to rid itself of German troops, is also moving quietly to meet the $300,000,000 reparations which it must pay the Soviets under the armistice. The burden will probably be carried largely by certain industries, part of whose production will be allocated to Russia. Since Finland once exported large amounts of wood and wood products to Russia, these materials are likely to constitute a major item under the proposed program. Many forests are nationally owned and private interests would not have to be reimbursed.—Newsweek.

Tribute To Lord Halifax

U.S. Newspaper Man Has High
Praise For British Ambassador

Luther Huston, Washington correspondent of the New York Times pays high tribute to Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador to the United States, in a recent article. He writes: "This tall, rather sombre man who has been the British Ambassador since January, 1941, has demonstrated to thousands of Americans that there is a common meeting ground, and in doing so, has acquired a wider knowledge, perhaps of Americans as individuals than any other Britisher of his time." He works hard at his job and has travelled very widely in the United States, but no matter where he is, Lord Halifax cannot be very far away from the lines that communicate with Whitehall and Downing Street. He does not know the hour when a dispatch may come that requires immediate and earnest attention. There flows across his desk and from it to the comprehensive and complex Embassy organization which deals with all phases of British interests in the United States a vast amount of documentary work. By nature and long training, he works quickly and easily, makes his decisions, and gives his instructions without hesitation. Had he not that faculty his work never would be done. His name is Edward Frederick Lindley Wood and he was the third Viscount Halifax until recently, when the King's honors list made him the Earl of Halifax. "He is as British as Yorkshire pudding or Devonshire cream, yet but for the place and circumstances of birth he might have been Professor Wood of some New England college or Ed. Wood from the Kentucky hills. He is a man who would do all right in either of these environments, and does right well where he is."

Control Shipping

Arrangement Between Britain And
United States Until War Ends

U.S. and Britain have been co-operating during the war in controlling shipping. The British Ministry of War Transport and the War Shipping Administration of the U.S. have had, under regulation or charter, operating control of almost all the ships in the world—except the enemy ones. This arrangement terminates on suspension of hostilities with Germany—after which the U.S. and Britain have agreed to set up a new authority—with Norway and the Netherlands, which is to control the majority of world shipping until six months after the end of the wars with Germany and Japan.

HERE'S MY FEED PROBLEM

How can I save money on feeding my calves?

HERE'S THE ANSWER

"Miracle" Calf Meal actually costs a little more because it is a top rate feed. With "Miracle" Calf Meal your calf will reach its full growth at least 4 months sooner so you actually save 4 months feeding costs. This more than covers the extra cost of the feed.

A. F. U. Notes

Someone has said that the course of history is decided by the cumulative effect of people working towards certain goals. Some are working for the common good. Some are working to serve selfish ends. Some sit idly by.

Human nature being what it is, it is probable that there will always be some that sit idly by. The principles of farmers' organizations, and that includes the A. F. U., provide a medium through which large numbers of farmers can help themselves and at the same time help each other. These principles provide for no exploitation of one individual or group for the benefit of another.

Many thousands of farmers banded together in voluntary association have kept before them the objective of bettering the conditions under which they live.

They have set up efficient organizations to help them reach their objectives. Those who sit idly by make the objective that much harder to attain.

Mr. Farmer, you alone know if you are one of the workers for farm security, or one sitting idly by. When your neighbor through organization obtains some benefit for Agriculture, you also receive that benefit, but don't refuse it. Then why not do your rightful part and join the A. F. U. These prosperous times may not last much longer. Who can say? Then you may ask yourself the question, "If we were only organized we could do something."

Now is the time to organize and be prepared for just that day. It may come much sooner than you expect.

The big news of the week that even overshadowed the war news for a while, was the re-election of President Roosevelt for a fourth term. It is no secret that Canadians were pleased with the result and all ears were glued to the radio Tuesday evening as the first results started coming over the air. Several prominent Senators and Representatives who have been known as "Isolationists" were defeated. President Roosevelt will have a larger Democratic majority in both houses. No other president has served more than eight years.

The President is a real friend to Canada and has expressed a warm admiration for our own prime minister, Mr. MacKenzie King, on more than one occasion. Mr. Roosevelt will be in the White House for another four years which should be real history making years.

The Editor:
Will you kindly insert the following in your paper. It may help to show how much they appreciate our war efforts in England. This "Jam for Britain" is really sent by the Women's Institute through the Red Cross. I received this letter last week.

132 Tanfield Ave.
Neasden,
London, N.W. 2, Eng.

Dear Mrs. Murray:
Let me introduce myself. I am a 17 year old Londoner who recently visited a Canadian hospital. Whilst I was there, I visited the kitchen where I saw a large tin of fruit on the table. When I had a close look at it, I found that it was a gift from the Kinsella Red Cross, and was dated 1943.

It then crossed my mind, what a great help you are giving to our Canadian boys. All the patients were wounded, some seriously, a great majority wounded in France. You can believe me when I say, they are very grateful for these gifts, your gifts, help to give your wounded the best of food and believe me, "they get" I saw some of the menus and they certainly get ALL the wounded deserve.

I am writing this to thank you for your work, though I am a civilian and only saw a fraction of what you are doing.

Yours is the spirit which stood up to the blitz (pardon me for giving myself a pat on the back) and yours is the spirit of the United Nations which will beat the Axis.

So, take it from me, keep on sending your gifts, and give your boys the extra food they need.

I would like to tell you where this hospital is, but I'm afraid my friend the censor would not allow it. All the same, I assure you, this letter of thanks comes from all the boys in hospital.

Yours faithfully,
Paul S. Boyne.

Viking Items

Last Saturday night ended the most successful carnival ever held by the Viking Elks lodge. For three nights the large Elks' hall was a gay and happy rendezvous for a crowd that took part in all the games and contests. Saturday night the crowd filled the hall to capacity. The Ladies Auxiliary of the U. C. church served lunch during the carnival and were kept busy all three evenings.

The free draws on Thursday and Friday evenings for three cash door prizes proved very popular. Winners Thursday evening were Miss Anne Francis, Miss Mary Reishus, and Mrs. Gilpin. Friday evening winners were Mr. John Carlson, Mr. Ed Richardson, and one more whose name is not available as we go to press.

Friday evening, RSM C. MacDonald, who has just returned to Canada after five years' service overseas, spoke on behalf of the 7th Victory Loan. He gave a first-hand account of the part Canadians are playing in the fighting in Italy and France. He had been attached to Gen. Montgomery's 8th army and his account of the battles were vivid and stirring. He knew several of the boys from here who fought and are still fighting overseas. After his speech several mothers asked him about their sons overseas. His appeal for support for the 7th Victory Loan brought a ready response. The Victory Loan booth did a roaring business.

Great interest was taken in the final main draw on Saturday evening for the $100.00 bill and two other prizes.

After some of the Elks prominent in the Loan drive and carnival were introduced, a little Miss on the stage was asked to draw the winning tickets for which the crowd was eagerly waiting. Holder of the lucky ticket for the 50.00 Victory Loan bond was Mr. V. A. Hardy who came on the stage to tell how he did it. The draw for the main prizes came next. The first ticket out of the barrel belonged to Mr. L. Buhler, of 10563, 101st St. Edmonton, who held the lucky ticket for the blankets.

Miss Mary Barber was the second prize winner which was the gent's travelling bag.

Mr. John Downie won the big prize, the 100.00 bill and came on the stage amidst great applause and received his prize. He was highly pleased and gave a neat little speech.

Thus ended another carnival, and the Elks will have a neat sum to dispense for worthy causes. The "Save the Children Fund," we understand, will receive the major portion of the net proceeds as all proceeds of the main raffle will go towards that fund.

All the Elks worked hard to put this year's carnival over which they did with a real bang—thank to the co-operation of the public.

Mrs. Wm. Garden arrived from Vancouver last week and has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook and other friends in the Phillips district. Mr. and Mrs. Garden sold their farm in the Quinte district three years ago and since then have made their home in Vancouver.

Mrs. Garden who attended the Elks' carnival on Saturday evening said she was pleased to meet so many old-time friends. Life in a big city was quite different from that in a smaller centre and new associations were not like the old ones made here in years gone by.

S. E. Slipper, eminent geologist, from Calgary, has been in town this week in connection with gas and oil matters that demand the services of a technical man. Mr. Slipper is well known throughout the mining world having done much "spade" work for the Dominion government and private companies in Canada in locating oil and gas bearing sands in various parts of the Dominion.

Students home for the week-end were John Lefsrud from Camrose Lutheran College, Dorothy Loughlin and Margaret Finn from Edmonton schools.

In Flanders' Fields

In Flanders' fields, the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.
